What are we learning?

Math: In math are learning about different ways to compare and order fractions. So far, we have drawn models and used cross multiplying.

Literacy: We continue reading and writing informational texts and researching about different kinds of frog adaptations. We are also learning about the different ways that sentences and paragraphs can be connected or organized.

Science: We are working on a unit about landforms. We are learning about different land and water features, and comparing fresh water bodies of water to salt water bodies of water.

Social Studies: Mr. Lee is teaching the kids about geography and maps in Social Studies this quarter.
